

“

DART is a powerful software solution designed specifically for oil and gas service companies. Its robust set of features makes it an ideal tool for managing and analyzing operations, and it is particularly well-suited for companies involved in coiled tubing, pumping, cementing, slickline, and well testing.

DART

DATA ACQUISITION
IN REAL-TIME

WITH DART

oil and gas service companies can easily monitor and track the progress of their operations, as well as collect and analyze data to improve efficiency and reduce costs. The software offers real-time monitoring and reporting capabilities, allowing operators to quickly identify issues and make informed decisions to keep operations running smoothly.

DART's user-friendly interface and customizable reporting features make it easy to tailor the software to meet the unique needs of each company. It is also compatible with a wide range of hardware platforms, ensuring seamless integration with existing systems.

OVERALL,

DART is an invaluable tool for oil and gas service companies looking to improve their operations and stay competitive in a constantly evolving industry.

FEATURES

- Real-time graphing that enables scrolling back and forth in time
- Merging of several curves on a single graph
- Flexible and automatic scaling options
- Curve coloring
- Number formatting for each parameter on the graph.

ADDITIONALLY

- It offers upper and lower alarms for each parameter
- Software calibration of parameters without affecting hardware configuration

REAL-TIME MONITORING WEB PORTAL IS ONE OF THE KEY FEATURES OF DART ADD ON

THE SOFTWARE

also allows for data to be accessed externally for real-time analysis, as well as importing of external data. Peak/trough is facilitated by its ability to sample rates from one second, while the zoom feature before printing ensures detailed analysis. Summary/treatment reports can be generated with comments entered in real-time or edited post-job

MEDCOTAS.COM

Medco House, Monument Way East,
Woking, Surrey GU21 5LY- United Kingdom